Findings/Faits saillants :

1. May 2012, resident's rights were not fully respected or promoted when the home failed to treat the resident with courtesy, dignity and respect, when resident was admitted to the home.

The home rushed to complete the admission protocols and failed to fully communicate to resident and family the admission processes.

The resident had not been properly assessed in regards to their behaviours; nor did the home allow for the resident's "adjustment process" to the home.

In Interview June 27, 2012, Administrator stated the home would be looking at their admission process for new residents. The Administrator confirmed her expectation resident rights be fully respected and promoted and that residents be treated with courtesy, dignity and respect.
