Rationale and Summary

A resident was brought to a program and was situated near co-residents. It was identified by staff that the resident had potential triggers nearby. The resident then demonstrated responsive behaviours.

By failing to implement the strategies that were put in place to respond to the resident's responsive behaviours, other residents were put at risk of harm.

Sources: interviews with staff and record review of a resident's clinical records.

B) The licensee failed to ensure that a resident's interventions for behavioural management were implemented, as indicated in their care plan.

Rationale and Summary

A resident was brought to a common area and left alone with no staff supervision for approximately five minutes while being situated near other residents. The resident's care plan stated they were to be monitored at all times, due to their responsive behaviours.

Staff identified that the resident was required to be monitored at all times to reduce or prevent any inappropriate behaviours or expressions.

By failing to ensure the resident's interventions for behavioural support were implemented, there was potential for the resident to cause harm to other residents through inappropriate behaviours or expressions.

Sources: observation of the resident, record review of a resident's clinical records and interviews with staff.

Rationale and Summary

From March to June, 2024, no audits were completed for one department to ensure they could perform the IPAC skills required for their role.

The home was in an outbreak from May to June, 2024, affecting four home areas.

By failing to follow the IPAC Standard and not completing audits for all staff within the home at least quarterly to ensure they could perform the required IPAC skills for their role, there was risk of transmission of infectious agents.
