1. The licensee has failed to ensure that with respect to a resident under a program, including assessments, reassessments, interventions and the resident's responses to interventions were documented.

Resident #100 was referred to the Registered Dietitian (RD) in December, 2014, due to necrotic tissue noted on the resident's foot by registered staff. The following day, the resident was assessed by the Wound Care Nurse (WCN). The WCN's assessment identified two wounds, one wound on each of the resident's feet.

The RD assessed the resident in December, 2014, and ordered a supplement for the resident's wounds. A review of the resident's clinical records indicated that the RD's assessment had not been documented.

It was confirmed by the RD and the Nutrition Manager on December 23, 2014, that resident #100 had been assessed by the RD and interventions were implemented, however, the assessment had not been documented. [s. 30. (2)]

1. The licensee has failed to ensure that resident #100 who exhibited altered skin integrity, received a skin assessment by a member of the registered nursing staff, using a clinically appropriate assessment instrument that was specifically designed for skin and wound assessment.

In December, 2014, resident #100's family member had reported to registered staff that the resident had two red raised areas on the resident's feet. The Registered Practical Nurse (RPN) documented in the resident's clinical record that the Registered Nurse (RN) assessed the resident and applied padding to these areas.

The following day, the RPN conducted an assessment of the resident's feet and indicated that these areas remained slightly reddened. Two days later, resident #100 complained of pain in their foot. The RPN assessed the resident and indicated that the resident's foot had a small area of necrotic tissue. The RPN sent a referral to the Wound Care Nurse (WCN).

It was identified that resident #100 had altered skin integrity; however, the resident did not receive a skin assessment by a member of the registered nursing staff using a clinically appropriate instrument specifically designed for skin and wound assessment until the WCN assessed the resident four days later.

This information was confirmed by the Wound Care Nurse on December 23, 2014. [s. 50. (2) (b) (i)]
