WN #1: The Licensee has failed to comply with O.Reg 79/10, s. 15. Bed rails

Specifically failed to comply with the following:

- s. 15. (1) Every licensee of a long-term care home shall ensure that where bed rails are used,
- (a) the resident is assessed and his or her bed system is evaluated in accordance with evidence-based practices and, if there are none, in accordance with prevailing practices, to minimize risk to the resident; O. Reg. 79/10, s. 15 (1).
  - (b) steps are taken to prevent resident entrapment, taking into consideration all potential zones of entrapment; and O. Reg. 79/10, s. 15 (1).
  - (c) other safety issues related to the use of bed rails are addressed, including height and latch reliability. O. Reg. 79/10, s. 15 (1).

Findings/Faits saillants :

1. The licensee did not ensure that where bed rails were used, that residents were assessed in accordance with prevailing practices to minimize risk to the resident.

Based on a tour of the home on July 30, 2015, interventions to minimize possible entrapment risks to residents were not implemented and residents had not been assessed in accordance with prevailing practices adopted by Health Canada in a document titled "Clinical Guidance for the Assessment and Implementation of Bed Rails in Hospitals, Long Term Care Homes, and Home Care Settings, April 2003" developed by the US Food and Drug Administration.

Residents were assessed to determine if they required one or more bed rails for mobility, transfers or repositioning and this information was found in random resident care plans. However, the assessment process did not include what safety risks were associated for each specific resident using the rail for mobility, transfers or repositioning. According to the clinical guidance document, residents also need to be assessed to determine whether the bed rail would pose any harm to them while they were in bed and whether alternatives would be more suitable. According to the Director of Care, the assessment tool they used and the processes they followed did not include an evaluation of residents for bed rail safety. [s. 15(1)(a)]

2. The licensee did not take steps to prevent resident entrapment where bed rails were used, taking into consideration all potential zones of entrapment.

During a tour of the home, using the licensee's bed entrapment audit records dated April 30, 2015 identifying that 22 beds failed one or more entrapment zones, several beds did not have any obvious signs that steps were taken to mitigate entrapment risks. Some beds were confirmed to have rail pads, rails tied down, rails removed or had new mattresses as a sign that steps had been initiated to minimize entrapment risks to residents, however others did not.

1) Resident #001 was lying on an air mattress with both 3/4 rails elevated. The air mattress did not have any built-in side bolsters or gap fillers and was a high risk for resident entrapment without these accessories due to its flexible design. According to the Director of Care, the resident did not require the bed rails for positioning and that the bed rails were raised automatically on all air mattresses. The resident was not accessed to determine if the side rails were necessary or whether the rails would pose a safety risk to the resident.

2) Resident #002 was equipped with a bed that failed entrapment zone 2 and was required to have the bed rails tied down (as documented) to eliminate the risk of entrapment to the resident. However, during the tour, the bed rails were not tied down.

3) Resident #003 was equipped with a bed that failed entrapment zones 2,3 and 4 and was required to have the bed rails tied down, however it was observed that the left 1/2 rail was raised.

Residents returning to these beds would be at risk for entrapment as the beds did not include any accessory to mitigate the identified entrapment risks. Beds were not being monitored to ensure that documented interventions such as "rail to be tied down" were being instituted by staff. In addition, there were no directions in the resident's plan of care for staff to follow regarding the use of any mitigating accessory.

The Administrator confirmed that the beds systems were slated for another round of entrapment tests in early August 2015 and a discussion was held regarding the need to date any follow up actions on the bed entrapment audit records. [s. 15(1)(b)]

- (c) other safety issues related to the use of bed rails are addressed, including height and latch reliability. O. Reg. 79/10, s. 15 (1).

Order / Ordre :

The licensee shall:

1. Amend the existing "Restraint/PASD Assessment" form to include additional questions related to bed rail risks as identified in the "Clinical Guidance for the Assessment and Implementation of Bed Rails in Hospitals, Long Term Care Homes, and Home Care Settings, April 2003" and re-assess all residents accordingly.
2. For all residents who have been assessed to require one or more bed rails while in bed and who currently reside in a bed that has failed one or more zones of entrapment, shall have interventions instituted to mitigate the identified zone of entrapment or risk.
3. Update the residents' plan of care to reflect what directions staff require to apply a specific intervention to ensure that the resident who resides in a bed that has failed one or more entrapment zones has the risk reduced or mitigated.
4. Implement a method and frequency to monitor the residents who require a specific intervention to ensure that the required intervention is being applied by staff and re-evaluate the intervention to determine it's effectiveness for the resident.
5. Maintain documentation of all bed systems audited so that it clearly identifies what date the follow up action was taken.

Grounds / Motifs :

1. The licensee did not ensure that where bed rails were used, that residents were assessed in accordance with prevailing practices to minimize risk to the resident.

Based on a tour of the home on July 30, 2015, interventions to minimize possible entrapment risks to residents were not implemented and residents had not been assessed in accordance with prevailing practices adopted by Health Canada in a document titled "Clinical Guidance for the Assessment and Implementation of Bed Rails in Hospitals, Long Term Care Homes, and Home Care Settings, April 2003" developed by the US Food and Drug Administration.

Residents were assessed to determine if they required one or more bed rails for mobility, transfers or repositioning and this information was found in random resident care plans. However, the assessment process did not include what safety risks were associated for each specific resident using the rail for mobility, transfers or repositioning. According to the clinical guidance document, residents also need to be assessed to determine whether the bed rail would pose any harm to them while they were in bed and whether alternatives would be more suitable. According to the Director of Care, the assessment tool they used and the processes they followed did not include an evaluation of residents for bed rail safety. (120)

2. The licensee did not take steps to prevent resident entrapment where bed rails were used, taking into consideration all potential zones of entrapment. During a tour of the home, using the licensee's bed entrapment audit records dated April 30, 2015 identifying that 22 beds failed one or more entrapment zones, several beds did not have any obvious signs that steps were taken to mitigate entrapment risks. Some beds were confirmed to have rail pads, rails tied down, rails removed or had new mattresses as a sign that steps had been initiated to minimize entrapment risks to residents, however others did not.

1) Resident #001 was lying on an air mattress with both 3/4 rails elevated. The air mattress did not have any built-in side bolsters or gap fillers and was a high risk for resident entrapment without these accessories due to its flexible design. According to the Director of Care, the resident did not require the bed rails for positioning and that the bed rails were raised automatically on all air mattresses. The resident was not accessed to determine if the side rails were necessary or whether the rails would pose a safety risk to the resident.

2) Resident #002 was equipped with a bed that failed entrapment zone 2 and was required to have the bed rails tied down (as documented) to eliminate the risk of entrapment to the resident. However, during the tour, the bed rails were not tied down.

3) Resident #003 was equipped with a bed that failed entrapment zones 2,3 and 4 and was required to have the bed rails tied down, however it was observed that the left 1/2 rail was raised.

Residents returning to these beds would be at risk for entrapment as the beds did not include any accessory to mitigate the identified entrapment risks. Beds were not being monitored to ensure that documented interventions such as "rail to be tied down" were being instituted by staff. In addition, there were no directions in the resident's plan of care for staff to follow regarding the use of any mitigating accessory.

The Administrator confirmed that the beds systems were slated for another
